Bank of Cleveland Contributes to PIE Center

Cleveland, Tennessee; 2022; The Partnerships in Industry and Education (PIE) Innovation Center is a planned regional educational facility that addresses the growing need to better prepare students for postsecondary careers and workforce opportunities. Bank of Cleveland was honored for its significant contribution to the PIE Center with a dedicated educational room. By having business, industry, secondary/postsecondary educational opportunities, and nonprofit services under one roof, students are provided with the tools, education, and life skills needed to succeed.

“It is an honor to play a role in the creation of the PIE Center in Bradley County. This institution of learning will give individuals the opportunity to learn skill sets that are instrumental in providing a quality workforce to businesses and industries. Our contribution is an investment in the future of Bradley County”, said Scott Taylor, Bank of Cleveland Chairman and Chief Executive Officer.

The PIE Innovation Center creates an intensive, strategic student experience through collaboration with business, industry, and nonprofit organizations. This educational experience gives students a vision for their future through embedded work-based learning and experiential learning in STEM, changing learning pathways, and promoting design thinking.
